

BILL MAIL WILL DISGORGE ITS PLUNDER

CIVIL SUITS TO BE BROUGHT BY VICTIMS TO RECOVER 'SHAKEDOWN' MONEY

It is thought that there would be no serious loss to the new appointees, sayings "There seems to be an impression to the effect that the new district attorney must promise he will not be a candidate for the office when his term expires. I shall exact no such condition. He can do as he pleases in the matter of administration of the office or in seeking election to it."

Attorney-General Allen ruled relative to the appointment that the office of district attorney is an administrative one, rather than a judicial character, and that therefore confirmation of an appointee will not have to be held over a week as in the case of a judicial appointment.

RING MUST DISGORGE.
Boston's Blackmail Ring must disgorge its plunder.

Lawyers convicted of extortion in the course of the Black Ring drive will have their troubles just begun. It develops that they will face civil suits for damages brought by their victims under a very special law.

In connection with this discovery, it became known today that the Boston Bar Association was preparing to start disbarment proceedings against another group of Greater Boston lawyers.

Some of these men had not been mentioned in the list of ex-district attorneys. But the revelations concerning the activities of the blackmail ring.

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court, or the Superior Court, for several months, or other courts, shall also be liable in damages to the person injured thereby.

In Section 41, Chapter 155, of the Revised Laws, as amended by Chapter 280 of the Acts of 1919, and continued, "And shall be liable to such other punishment as may be provided by the law; and the expenses and cost of the inquiry and prosecution in either court for the removal of the attorney shall be paid by the attorney."

Under this ruling, prosecution is likely to see some of the "pocket" money of the "ring" flowing in the district courts for a return of the money they paid over to the plotters for "protection" or as "shakedown" money.

As revealed in the Boston American exposure of the gang, some of the victims have lost into many thousands of dollars.

WILL BRAYE PUBLIC OPINION.
Some of the victims have had to borrow, convert real estate into cash and otherwise dig deep into their pockets to meet the demands of their persecutors and they are expected to brave public opinion in their desire to get back.

This development has caused great interest today with Captain Herbert Gordon of the Cambridge police.

He will be removed today. His fall marks the passing of the powerful and feared Middlesex county which has ruled Middlesex county for many years.

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court, or the Superior Court, for several months, or other courts, shall also be liable in damages to the person injured thereby.

Attorney-General J. Weston Allen has recommended that the attorney be removed from the list of ex-district attorneys. The first threat at Gordon was his removal yesterday from the office of the district attorney, to which he has been specially assigned for more than eight years.

Mayor Edward W. Quinn admitted that he and Chief Melrose had conferred on the matter and had sent a request in writing to Attorney General Allen for specific removal. "Any charges or testimony that cropped out at the trial," said Quinn, "will not be disturbed. Any specifications are received the district authorities will study them, and if the evidence warrants, will drop Gordon from the force."

PAID TO GO DOWN.
An all-day search was made Monday for Captain Gordon by Chief Melrose in order formally to serve notice on him that he was no longer attached to the District Attorney's office, but he could not be found in Cambridge. He was seen early in the afternoon in Pemberton square, Boston.

Law by Which Allen May Prosecute Members of Bar

Section 41, Chapter 155, of the Revised Laws, as amended by Chapter 280 of the Acts of 1919, read as follows:

"Any attorney may be removed by the Supreme Judicial Court, or the Superior Court, for default, malpractice or other gross misconduct and shall also be liable in damages to the person injured thereby, and to such other punishment as may be provided by the law; and the expenses and cost of the inquiry and prosecution in either court for the removal of the attorney shall be paid as in criminal prosecutions in the Superior Court."

"Whenever a petition is filed for the removal of an attorney, the proceedings thereon shall be conducted by the Attorney-General, or such person as he may designate with the approval of the court, provided such a person so appointed, if he be other than an Assistant Attorney-General, shall receive no compensation for his services."

It is reported today that John Quinn, indictment clerk, would undoubtedly also be dropped, as will John Doyle and others in the office force. Miss Berwin Mason is telephone operator at present and the stenographers are Louise Kearney and Anna Manning. The new district attorney will probably select new stenographers. Michael Caglianone, Italian interpreter attached to the office, will not be disturbed. He was appointed by the Judge of the Superior Court.

REPORTS OF SPY AGENTS IN BOSDON TRIAL

Author Charged With Receiving Records Stolen From Government Agents Here

James J. Bosdon, Boston author and investigator, was in trial before Judge James M. Morton, Jr., and a jury in Federal court here today on the charge of receiving and retaining government reports of German spy activities which were stolen from the office of the Department of Justice, at No. 1 Water street.

Spectacular developments were expected at the trial, which has been hanging fire since May of 1920. First Assistant United States District Attorney Essex R. Abbott appeared for the prosecution and John A. Sullivan, former corporation counsel of the City of Boston, for the defense.

James J. Bosdon was arrested in May, 1920, after he had achieved fame with his articles on German spy activities in America, and particularly in New Hampshire in 1918. It was alleged that the information in some of these articles was stolen.

The records were alleged to concern the murder of Dr. William Dean of East Lafort, N. H., and the affairs of Dr. Earl Mack, formerly conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Bosdon at the time of his arraignment before United States Commissioner Hayes was very indignant against the government and its action in arresting him. He said that he was acting illegally.

The so-called government records which were seized at Bosdon's home in April 27, 1920, since November, 1919, with the knowledge and approval of George H. Fisher, of the Bureau of Investigation, department of justice.

It is alleged that Bosdon is no longer in that position. The papers seized at my office consisted of a book containing more than 50,000 words, all on the subject of the German revolution.

Clarence A. Barnes, Bosdon's lawyer, was heard today. He said that the papers would show they were stolen, and that Bosdon was not guilty.

William West, a Department of Justice agent, was the first witness. He testified to investigating the Bosdon case and to making a report of his findings. Later, he said, he was one of the officers who, provided with a search warrant, entered Bosdon's home at No. 50 Bellevue street, and his office at No. 18 School street.

Robert L. Gates, who said he was a son of the late millionaire, John W. Gates, of Chicago, was arraigned in the municipal court today, charged with being a fugitive from justice. He was remanded to Charles Street jail to await the arrival of detectives from Chicago, where he is wanted to answer charges of forgery and "raising checks."

IRISH HEAD FOR RESUMPTION OF WAR

Sinn Fein Army Getting First Real Training in Modern Arms and Field Tactics

Universal Service Staff Correspondent, Dublin, Oct. 4.—How the Irish Republican army is preparing to meet the eventualities of resumption of war was demonstrated to me yesterday. I was allowed to view the units belonging to the 4th Dublin Regiment, undergoing training. Richard Mulcahy with the headquarters staff was present and took a salute.

We accompanied into the Dublin mountains where we watched the 4th doing field work. The engineers laid telegraph and telephone lines with the usual military celerity. The Red Cross bandaged and removed men on stretchers. Recruits in the machine gun section were being instructed in the weapon which is new to the republican army.

USING GERMAN PISTOLS.
There were two separate sections of the revolver class, one using an old-fashioned revolver and the other, to which only the coolest and bravest men of the battalion are admitted, using the German automatic revolver, which is bigger and heavier than any Colt.

The officers in charge said that with the German pistol deadly aim can be taken up to 300 metres, and that a munition's action rifle could be fired, which would change the revolver to a rifle of the latest pattern. This gun, which has just been issued, fires thirty-two rounds without reloading, is an ideal weapon for street fighting.

SIZE CHANGES IN TROOPS.
Officers in field gear uniforms, similar to the U. S. A. Flying Corps, were supervising the squad drill. A big percentage of Irishmen fought with the British army in France and their experience is now invaluable. One officer's summary of the situation was formerly a British major.

Every officer I talked with believes that war will break out again and as a more terrible scale than ever. His unit.

"Our great difficulty has always been to train our men. The Irish have given us an opportunity for reorganizing and disciplining our men, so that when the fighting does come, we shall be the better ready to meet our foe."

The units consisted of the flower of Dublin youth between the ages of twenty and twenty-five. They are preparing to meet terrible odds unflinchingly.

"Hitherto our brigades have chiefly consisted of street fighting men, and a brigadier-general. "Now we are reorganizing our formations for battle under different conditions. Rifles and machine guns will play a more prominent part in the new operations."

MOST POWERFUL NAVY RIFLE TO BE TESTED
Washington, Oct. 4.—A new 15-inch, 50-caliber rifle, said to be more powerful than any naval gun now in use, and other new developments in ordnance will be tested at the army ordnance proving ground at Aberdeen, Md., Friday, when "Ordnance Day" will be celebrated.

MRS. ANITA DAVIS CHASE
JOHN N. GATES' JAP COOK WINS $5000 HELD AS PRIZE FOR FORGERY

Mrs. Anita Davis Chase of the Hotel Buckminster was granted a divorce from Francis P. Chase, food street business man, mainly on the strength of the testimony of Charles Street jail today, charged with being a fugitive from justice.

Mrs. Chase sought and was granted her divorce on the claim of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication on the part of her husband.

The Japanese cook gave forceful corroborating testimony, saying he left the employ of Chase because of his drinking habits. He said he saw whiskey in the glasses of the latter's summer residence in Cohasset.

He said Chase had a large stock of whiskey in the cellar of his home, and that he saw it being drunk by that portion of the house for sale.

MISS LADY DECEASED ELEGANCE

New York, Oct. 4.—Miss Mrs. Rita De Anzio, Lady, divorcee and his premised wife, as like a figure carved in marble in her pew, Harry Percy Ricker Grant started the fashionable congregation of the Church of the Ascension with a thunderous denunciation of the stand of the Episcopal Church against divorce and served as a police officer on his estate that he intended to marry the woman of his choice, come what might.

Electified into action by his own statement that "divorce was an imperial problem," his suit was never had a chance to let its attention stray.

YES NEVER LET HIS FACE.

The occasion marked the twenty-ninth anniversary of the installation of Dr. Grant as pastor of the church.

Never in those twenty-nine years had he reached a pulpit where he addressed an audience more completely under the spell of his vigorous eloquence and unimpaired logic.

The occasion lost nothing in dramatic appeal by the presence of Mrs. Lady, the "woman in the case," for whom Dr. Grant is ready to defy the canons of his church and renounce his office.

Her eyes never left his face and she showed not a trace of self-consciousness as her fiancé's brilliant, subtle, powerful attack on the hostility of the Episcopal Church to divorce went on.

Mrs. Lady, slim, beautiful, possessed of a back and shoulders that have been the inspiration and despair of many artists, showed no signs of the twenty-five exotic years during which she has alternately thrilled and startled New York society.

CURIOUS WATCHED HER.

Curious spectators, watching her "Babe" in the pulpit, could scarcely have been surprised to see her, with her living on his face, and turning her back on the society she once led.

What is that "Babe" she is so prepared to do, once her fiancé has added his difference with church tradition to his own of other and made her his wife.

It will not be Rita Lady's first combat with the divorce law, for when she was a Catholic girl of sixteen, she was married to W. D. Stokes, who was a devout Roman Catholic. They were married by Archbishop Corrigan of New York.

Several seasons at Newport and the alleged neglect of her husband, who was even then a man of some note, led her to divorce him. Stokes, the world has come to know through the mire of scandal, weakened her position against the mills of man's justice which separate "that God with John," and finally she made her first visit to the divorce court.

HE RAPS CHURCH.

Her subsequent marriage to Phil Ricker and her career as a "queen of extravagance" are part of the Sunday supplement history of the land. With little origin and this history, Mrs. Lady heard her church concerned itself with a wrangle over divorce. Not a word about uncompromising dissent, plague, pestilence or famine.

In the Episcopal Church a divorce is a comparatively unimportant problem and the church must concern itself with bigger issues.

New York, Oct. 4.—Grief has fallen upon the household of Rev. Percy Ricker Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension, for Faith Widdowson, the five months' old child who was abandoned on Dr. Grant's doorstep last May, is dangerously ill at the Presbyterian Hospital.

Man Is Killed With Hammer, Wife Under Arrest

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Albert S. Tomlinson was found dead in his bed today, his skull crushed in by the blows of a heavy hammer. His widow, Mrs. Mary W. Tomlinson, who was released only three days ago from the Hudson River State Hospital for the Insane, was taken into custody. A nephew of the dead man said Mrs. Tomlinson had been acting strangely.

OFFICER HATT SUSPENDED BY CURTIS

Patrolman Who Was Tried for Theft Is Charged With Violations of Police Manual

Police Commissioner Curtis today announced the suspension of Patrolman Ralph L. Hatt, of the Robbery Crossing Station, pending investigation of three charges against the officer.

Hatt, who has been under charge before, is accused of conduct unbecoming an officer, of violating the Police Manual, and of being a police officer with a warrant.

Hatt came on the police force last January when he was tried on charges of having stolen a quantity of jewelry from the store of James Weller and Company on Washington street.

After being out five hours from the City Hall station, he was released to transfer him from the Robbery Crossing station.

He was next charged with reading a newspaper while on duty, and was tried before a police trial board.

He was found guilty and sentenced him to punishment duty.

ACCUSE BROKERS' CLERK
OF TAKING $75,000

The loss of $75,000 by the firm of Hugh J. Dimond & Co., stock brokers, as the result of alleged peculation by William D. Holland of Bedford, the firm's confidential clerk, has resulted in a bill in equity being filed in the Superior Court by Francis T. Leahy, trustee in bankruptcy of Dimond & Co.

Holland, who was ordered to resign his position and to leave the firm, is alleged to have stolen the money and to have used it to purchase stocks and securities.

SHIP WITH SHACKLETON
ABOARD IS IN DISTRESS

Lisbon, Oct. 4.—The steamer Court, having on board Sir Ernest Shackleton and his party, is in distress. The ship is alleged to have been placed in a difficult position by the ice.

LYNN NEAR-BEER CASE
BRINGS FINE OF $100

The beer was sold to a minor, who was found to be under the age of twenty-one.

MCCORMICK SEEK FORCE, CHICAGO HEARS

Psycho-Analysis of Rockefeller's Daughter Put to Test by New Rumors

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Traditions that Harold P. McCormick will soon sue for a divorce from the daughter of John D. Rockefeller are made here.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, who arrived here from New York on a special train, lived today in different houses.

This time out McCormick's statement that "he and his wife are not living under the same roof."

The divorce prediction was given strength when it became known that the president of the International Harvester Company was in conference with her the other day.

McCormick is living at the city residence on Lake Shore Drive. She neither showed distress or surprise when told of her husband's statement.

"I see the sun still shines in Chicago," she said as she came from her home for an automobile trip over the city.

She would not make any comment upon her husband's statement.

In a hired automobile, the wife of the president of the International Harvester Company went driving, accompanied by her the other day.

ALLEGED HUSBAND FORGER CAUGHT IN ENGLAND FOR SLANDER

John Brisco Thompson Charged With Larceny of $14,000 From Cotton Firm

John Brisco Thompson, formerly of Lynn, who is wanted here to answer the charge of larceny of $14,000 from the cotton firm of Rogers & Co., Summer street, was caught in London.

They became suspicious that he had made away with company funds and an auditor's examination of the books is said to have indicated this.

Thompson is seventy-seven years old.

Circulars immediately sent all over the United States by the police in London.

His movements were traced to Pennsylvania and then New York City, where he sailed on July 18 for England.

He arrived in England a few days before it was known he was on his way there.

HOLLY STREET THEATRE—Next Monday night at the Holly Street Theatre Ethel Barrymore will begin a brief engagement in the play in which her triumph has been without parallel in her stage history, "Dedication," by Ben Akins.

TREMONT THEATRE—Seats will go on sale Thursday morning for "Little Old New York," with Genevieve Tobin, the Irish Beauty Young comedy which will be the offering at the Tremont Theatre, beginning next Monday. Sam H. Harris is the producer of the new play, which was staged under the personal direction of Sam Harris.

California, the noted film comic was presented for the first time to equally attentive audiences of Boston fun lovers, and while making the acquaintance of his new admirers Ben Turpin exhibited some of the indigenous traits for which he is famous in all parts of the world.

THE COLONIAL THEATRE—The ordinary attractions of the "Polites" and "The Girl in the Spotlight" in getting his prices continued to fill the Colonial Theatre last night so full that you couldn't have wedged another customer inside with a towel.

This is the fifteenth annual "Palace" Ziegfeld's the original. All others are imitations. If you doubt it, ask Ziegfeld. He'll tell the world. Certainly he is responsible for a form of entertainment which has become tremendously popular, and his imitations are his sincerest flattery.

EXQUISITE SCENERY—Joseph Urban, who has designed and painted the scenery for all the recent "Polites," is responsible for the scene's production also. It is an artistic and exquisite in its combinations of colors and ideas as you might expect from a really great artist.

The cast is one of great strength, such names as Raymond Hitchcock, Mary Eaton, Ray Doolley, Van and Schenck, W. C. Fields, Florence Ziegfeld, Mary Milburn, and Fannie Brice. Miss Brice brings up a rear of the advertised film stars, but if manual labor counted for anything her name is above them. What's his name, should lead to it.

Miss Brice is ever busy. Some might say that she had too much to do if they didn't happen to like her especially. Her sense of humor, but there is one thing she can do better than anybody else, and that is sing a Ziegfeld comic song.

PRIZE FIGHT A FEATURE—Do you remember the celebrated prize fight of the "Polites of 1917"? The Dempsey-Carpenter rumphus has given Ziegfeld a chance to revive it. Except that this time the French and American champions are impersonated by Fannie Brice and Ray Doolley.

Mary Eaton is a truly sweet little person, as dainty and evocative as a vase of flowers, and very beautiful. The prima donna is Mary Milburn, who you will remember was the leading role in "The Girl in the Spotlight," which George Lederer brought to the Tremont when she was beautiful. W. C. Fields doesn't lose a moment of his time when he appears in a Ford automobile in a very comical way. Florence Ziegfeld dances in a fashion worth watching.

Miss John Clark puts a pretty good case. If you happen to like Van and Schenck with their false association they are much in evidence.

Of course the haughty and staid features of the ensemble are a feature of Ziegfeld's jammers. Headed by Jessie Ford, whose marital affairs are widely published, they are there in large numbers. All there.

Other stars include Lily, the youngest girl juggler in the world, the latter the daughter of the well-known dancer of the musical comedy stage; Florence Ziegfeld, plucky and Larry Markine. The usual moving picture features are included in the bill.

Film Star Returns to Stage in "Carned," a Bright Comedy Drama

After three years in record stadium Midge Kennedy returns to the legitimate bill retaining her winsome beauty and charm that made her a reason for regret to lovers of the old stage.

"Carned," which opened last night at the Majestic, after a successful run at the Astor, New York, she proved her versatility as a stage player.

It is a story of a pampered heiress and a man who has helped in this feature.

WOMEN ON BOYCOTT ON TROLLEYS

Volunteers Driving Hyde Park "Jitneys," Public Fund Purchasing Gasoline

Hyde Park's boycott of Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway cars gathered momentum today, many women joining in the movement. Twelve volunteer drivers of automobiles were serving the public from the gasoline being purchased from a gasoline fund being raised by subscription.

Riding on the street cars was light and leaders of the crusade declared it would continue as long as the cars crowded under which they were riding from Hyde Park to Boston without paying 20 cents.

The Current Events Club of Hyde Park will take up the question at tomorrow's meeting and is expected to endorse the stand of the general public.

The "boycott" is the result of a long-standing grievance of Hyde Park residents. They have to pay two ten-cent fares, one to the Eastern Massachusetts and one to the Elevated, to get into the city, being the only section of Greater Boston facing this handicap. Under the law they cannot operate jitneys, buses and the "volunteer" auto brigade is their way of getting around the question.

Some of the automobiles were in constant use on the 20 today while empty street cars meandered through the streets. One of the drivers was Mrs. E. Van D. Terrell. One of the men "volunteers" carried six persons within three hours.

Well, what is this one? Don't let me speak at once! You may not recognize each and every one of these cars at first glance, of course, but you can rely upon the statement that each of these cars has been made from actual photographs. There should be no trick at all about naming every one, though there are some you may have to puzzle over. If you are lucky, you will not have to puzzle over today's car; all you will do is write its name on the line and put it aside with your other answers.

It may be that this one "trumps" you. Before waiting a lot of valuable time, try your friend across the hall, your pal at the next desk, the garage man on the corner. There are many ways to identify automobiles, or you can stand at the curb a few minutes.

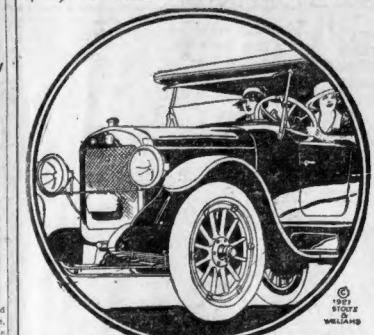

On the other hand, the essay (or letter) you must write at the end of this $1500 Test will have to represent YOU. We want YOUR ideas on how to lessen the number of New England highway accidents. Tell us in not less than 100 words more than one hundred words, to the best way to reduce the accident rate. Keep in mind that the Boston American is solicited in the National Wash-Bright Day's Night movement.

The Name-This-Auto Test, now on its eighth day, will consist of fifty pictures of automobiles. Each picture will show some distinctive individual line of the car in question. Name-plates will be concealed, of course.

Nothing is to be sent in before the end of the Test. Then you will send in the fifty pictures, each with the name of a motor-car beneath it, and an essay on No-Accident thought. Fifteen hundred dollars will be divided among the fifteen American readers who make the best essays in identifying the cars and writing helpful essays.

WIFE, DAZED BY POVERTY, FOUND IN PARK

Becomes Hysterical While Seeking Aid to Prevent Eviction From Home

About to become a mother, her husband out of work and threatened with eviction from her home at No. 53 Bailey street, Dorchester, Mrs. Madeline Prentiss, twenty-two years old, was picked up wandering about Charlestown Park today and rushed to the Haymarket Relief Station for treatment.

She was suffering from a violent attack of hysteria when two officers of Station P found her, and was unable to go to any account of herself. Later, after restoratives had been administered at the hospital, she told her story.

Some weeks ago her husband lost his job, and though he had tramped the streets of Boston and surrounding towns persistently had been able to find nothing.

The little store of money they had laid aside dwindled and Saturday the last of it was spent. The rent was long overdue and the landlord was pressing for his money.

Then came the climax. Yesterday her husband told her that unless they could raise the money to meet the rent they would be evicted, and that he was going out to see what he could do to find work.

Left to herself, she said she brooded over their troubles, and the coming of the baby she had longed for, and about 7 o'clock decided that she would leave the house and see if she could not get aid.

There was nothing definite to her thoughts as she walked out, and she remembered wandering round for hours. Then she lost consciousness and did not remember being picked up and taken to the hospital. She had been without food since Saturday.

Health Food That's Good

Every man will relish raisins for lunch, or toasted raisin bread for breakfast. Stewed raisins and cream make a delicious dish.

And each is an invaluable health-food, rich in the priceless food-value which builds vitality in the blood.

ARE YOU A MENTAL EXILE?

ARE you a mental exile?

Do you sometimes feel like a stranger in a strange land when your friends talk of international topics and mention names that you cannot pronounce?

Do you feel like a poor swimmer, obliged to go back to the beach alone, when the foreign situation and world economics are being discussed, and you find that you are beyond your depth?

Are you feeling your way about in the dark, while others make remarks and speak of things you have never seen, in the full light of their greater knowledge?

Do you limp along at the tail-end of a crowd, unable to keep up with the procession when the clever men and women mention names and places that are discussed too glibly for you?

Mental exile, the feeling of solitude and unfamiliarity, is one of the most humiliating experiences possible.

When you long for the companionship of the educated and refined, when you would associate with men and women of the world, it is unnerving to think that you might find yourself, after all, conversationally clumsy and dumb.

The day is past when ability to bound the various States in the United States and name their capital cities is all you need to know.

The great war changed the parochial, provincial mind of many an average citizen into an international mind. Foreign trade, economic and legal relations that ignore boundaries, the free flow of ideas and thoughts which know no hindrances or barriers, have broken down the obstacles.

We are, it is believed by those statesmen and financiers competent to judge, on the brink of a great awakening. Our strategic position in the United States as arbiters of the world's destiny is one that will be influenced by the public opinion of the American people. It is the duty of every citizen to be saturated with the information which will make possible a wise and profitable decision on the part of this country.

You must not, then, be mentally exiled.

You should know what is being done in Japan by a certain Kagawa of Kobe to check the dangerous tide of militarism in that country.

You should be familiar with the predictions of Georg Brandes, Europe's greatest critic, as to the prospects for future wars.

Constantine, King of Greece, is fighting a war which has been waged continuously for 468 years, and you ought to know his reasons.

No more powerful forces are at work in Great Britain to-day than the brilliant minds of those two inspiring writers, G. Bernard Shaw and H. G. Wells. Their thoughts are of immediate importance to you. You must keep up with what they write day by day. These topics are necessary for your mental citizenship. As a citizen of a new world, an international citizen, you demand a liberal education in these informative subjects.

To associate on terms of equality with the best minds of the present day, to be able to discuss international matters with familiarity and even match your thoughts against the traveled bankers and business men, you must be able to get accurate information and get it directly.

You must hear directly from the world's leading writers, thinkers, leaders and other dominating individuals.

And to exhilarate your mind, to send the blood coursing through your brain, you want, of course, the most stimulating stories written by the world's living masters of fiction. Besides the new novel of H. G. Wells, you will want to be thrilled by the romance of every nation, by Donn Byrne, by Mildred Cram, by Owen Johnson, by Blasco Ibanez, by Rex Beach, by H. B. Maxwell, by Bruno Lessing and by Frederic Arnold Kummer.

You can do that every month in the international magazine, whose pages are a liberal education, Hearst's International.

HUGHES' STAND ON PUBLICITY IS IMPORTANT

Haggood Sees Secretary's Talks as Vital to Correspondents at Arme Parley

By NORMAN HAGGOOD, Staff Correspondent of the Boston American.
Washington, Oct. 4.—Nothing about the November conference is attracting more attention than the question of publicity. The public is not clear about just what it expects to know from day to day, but vaguely hopes not to be kept in the dark until everything is out and dried.

One thing not fully taken into account is that publicity depends largely on the equipment of the correspondents. A particular fact means much or little according to whether or not you understand its bearing. An intelligent man understanding world-situations will be able to give a coherent account of developments from day to day, where a correspondent trained only in what newspapers call spot news will be helpless.

TWO SOURCES OF NEWS.
There will be two sources from which the correspondent will draw. One will be the official statement of the government. The other will be the personal observation of the correspondent. The official statement will be the basis of the correspondent's report. The personal observation will be the basis of the correspondent's commentary.

REWARD COMES HOME.
At the moment of her triumph her husband comes home unexpectedly and at the same time her son is ill with fever. Through her social climbing tendencies and her husband's jealousy they become estranged. It is over the chilly sickness that they are reunited. This is the best picture of the situation in the film. Particularly in the last close-up when they clasp hands across the bed and the boy's small head is laid on top of theirs.

She is a writer in the sense that she is a writer of the heart. She is a writer of the heart. She is a writer of the heart. She is a writer of the heart.

CHILDREN'S DAY OPENS BIG FAIR AT BROOKTON

Boy and Girl Scouts appear in Stunts; Pageant and Folk Dancing Features

The forty-eighth annual Brookton Fair opened today, and will continue until 11 p. m. Friday.

The directors of the year declare arrangements have been made to attend all previous fairs, and hope the record of 200,000 attendance during the four days the fair lasts will be broken long before Friday night.

The opening day has been named for the children. A program of sports has been provided, together with a pageant and folk dancing. The Boy and Girl Scouts are down on the program for a number of stunts.

But the biggest feature of the opening day's program was the race in which Single G, with a track record of 1:31, started as the favorite. More than 10,000 were to be seen at the management on racing features of the fair and more than 600 horses will take part in the same.

Those in charge of the fair this year declare that in every department exhibitors are more numerous than usual, and larger sums are offered as prizes for winners in the various sports, and the fair is planned to be a most successful one.

FORMER FOLLIES GIRL CHARGES HUSBAND ABANDONED HER

SOME BABY in a sweet little dress trimmed with baby Persian lamb—an ideal garment for the Fall semester at college. The maker calls it a Betty Wales dress and (don't let this get out ladies) it can be copied rather inexpensively. (W. W.)

YESSIR, these have toddlers in the champagne shoe pitchers of N. Y. And when they're apitakin' right they ain't no man can tak' 'em, no indeed. Gertrude Driscoll and Joe Lytle, on a rather rare team, playing two men. (Int.)

FLORENCE WILLARD, ex-Ziegfeld beauty, wants her husband back and has charged him with abandonment. Her father-in-law is a wealthy San Francisco broker. Blames his folks. Been wedded a year. (Int.)

DEUVILLE can do anything, but here's what they do at Oxford on those chilly October morns. The cigarette, psychologically, keeps her warm. (C.)

FURBELOWS AND FUR ALLOVER! Misdeed of fashion will be well suited this Winter. Virtually entire frocks of beautiful pelts, enhanced with a little lace, will be popular. Frock at left, Hudson seal and black chintilly. At right, ermine and point de venise. (U. S. L.)

"THE SEERESS"! Miss Lillian Fowell, a dancer well known to Boston lovers of the poetry of motion, is pictured in a charming and characteristic pose. She is a pupil of Ruth St. Denis and makes her home in Los Angeles.

PERSHING? No—Robert H. McCormack, Federal attorney, who is pushing the alleged dry law violation in the "Fatty" Arbuckle case. (U. S. L.)

IS THAT SO! Paris decrees that this is the latest headdress style and that America, to be modish, take it up. They are heavily considered in white on the silk background. Mind your own business, Paris, "as girls" will wear what we like. (K.)

POPULAR ABOARD! This new plunger system for the opening of automobile doors has found wide popularity with Continental shakers. Works on the same principle as camera shutter plunger. By pressing down the lever the door is unlocked by means of flexible cable. (C. & H.)

DANCE A LITTLE, LADY! Phyllis Blumenthal, who still puts her daily to bed, can shake a pink hot wicket foot, according to the experts. She comes from Oakland, Cal. (C.)

WHAT'S IN A KISS—or a name? Anyway, here is Miss Florence Burke, first girl in his Charlie Chaplin on return to England, which he left 7 years ago unknown. (C.)

HOPE HAMPTON, flickering filmist, hopes that Babe Ruth, Babe Smith of Best, will last at least three home runs during the world's series. Although Hope is more adept at holding hands (in the movie), she is showing to hold his blindfold. Anyway, Ruth and Hope just late having their picture taken. (C.)

GOING UP! Flying on your male stoopjacks—defies Miss L. L. Haggins, N. Y. daredevil. She will do all their stunts and then go them one better, she says. (Int.)

NOT ON THE LEVEL! Having no reference, of course, to the gymnasts, but to their position. The Central Europeans have for scores of years been the finest gymnasts in the world and the Berlin Turn Verein of Germany is one of the most exclusive of the group. Members of this talented society recently gave a thrilling exhibition of their skill in the Berlin Stadium—ensemble and using gymnastic apparatus. Above is pictured one of the difficult stunts which delighted the throng attending the event. (W. M.A.)

"Lest-We-Forget" Group Plans Affairs for Wounded

(From the White) MISS REBEKAH HOBBS

By BETTY ALDEN

Among the Bostonians who are not only remembering, but helping the wounded heroes of the late war are matrons and girls of local prominence. Some of the most active workers along this line are members of the recently organized "Lest-We-Forget" Committee of the Army and Navy Club of which Mrs. Lars Anderson of Washington and Brookline is one of the charter members.

The "Lest-We-Forget" committee is planning a series of events for the Autumn and Winter to raise funds for carrying on the club's welfare and hospital work for service, ex-service and Federal Board men's special aim of the committee is to enable the club to give entertainment for the wounded soldiers still in the hospitals, and for this purpose a food and candy sale will take place at the Army and Navy Club 10 Park Square, on Thursday.

Miss Andrea Parker, who is an assistant hostess at the club, has charge of the candy table. She will be assisted by Madeline Placer, Kate Bond, Payette Parker, Wilhelmina Albrecht, Mrs. Edward Fay, Mrs. Len Murray, Rebecca Alvord and Ellen Bacon. The last two mentioned are of the "Red Girl" class, which is proving itself quite indispensable to the hostesses of the club.

Mrs. Louis E. Chester of Brookline, assisted by Mrs. Andrea Parker and Miss Rebekah Hobbs, a member of the 1919 Sewing Circle, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin W. Hobbs of Beacon Street.

Miss Hobbs, who recently returned from a trip abroad, will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Katherine W. Parker, who will be married next Saturday at the Unitarian Church, Jamaica Plain, to Mr. Tappan Eustis Francis.

The Trinity Episcopal Church in Lenox was the scene of an impressive ceremony, when, on Sunday morning, at the close of the regular service, two list candidates in the church were consecrated by the Rev. Latta Griswold, the rector.

They were given to the church by Mrs. Latta Griswold, the rector. They were Mrs. Charles Winthrop Polson in memory of her husband, and Mrs. Polson's daughter were present at the consecration ceremony.

COFFEE

It is a stimulus to effort in the office or in the home—it coaxes cheerful spirits and clear-thinking for the rest of the day.

As regularly as the clock swings round to four, drink an appetizing, reviving cup of Coffee. Not very far from wherever you are, there is a coffee house, soda fountain, restaurant or hotel which makes a feature of Afternoon Coffee.

This advertisement is part of an educational campaign conducted by the leading COFFEE merchants of the United States in cooperation with the National Coffee Association, Inc., of the State of New York, which produces more than half of all the COFFEE used in the United States of America.

IN consequence of the earth's annual revolution, the heavens have turned so that the Great Dipper, seen directly over the pole in the Spring, is now, at the same hour, under the pole, just skimming the horizon in the north.

A newcomer only too easily detected an odious sophistication in intrigue, an adroitness at protective attitudinising, which bespoke the gallant of many affairs.
